

WORK ON BRIDGE AT GRANDY MAY START IN FALL

Indications Are Right of Way May Be Secured
During Summer

BULLETIN

The special right of way committee of the Lee county board of supervisors today preferred the filing of condemnation proceedings against the Flamm property at the south end of the Grand Detour bridge, where about three-quarters of an acre is required for right of way of a new bridge. The action would require the empanelling of a special venire of jurymen of 24 members which would cost about $200 to contest a claim in which but $75 is involved, it was stated at the court house today.

The $75 item is for the construction of a woven wire fence along the Flamm property along the proposed new right of way, and in the face of the adoption of a resolution appropriating the sum of $2,000 or such part as is necessary to be used in the purchase of the right of way, the committee favors involving the county in a condemnation proceeding which will cost many times more than the amount involved. Both County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake and State's Attorney Edward Jones opposed the condemnation proceedings.

Indications today pointed to the possibility of work being started early next winter on a new bridge to replace the present Grand Detour structure over Rock river. It was expected that within a few days the necessary right of way for the south approach to the new bridge would be released and reports today were that the Ogle county board of supervisors through their special right of way committee would be assured of the required new site for the north approach. The Ogle board appropriated $1,200 for that purpose.

The state department of public works and buildings has not begun work on plans for the new structure, it has been rumored, but with the releases for the required right of way, only a short time would be required to draft plans and prepare specifications. It was believed that the state department would begin taking soundings on the bed of Rock river probably late this fall. Much less time would be required in the drafting of plans for the new structure, which will be of a heavy service type bridge and not of the stream-lined type such as the Abraham Lincoln bridge in this city. The new bridge, it has been estimated will cost about $400,000.

Lee Appropriation $2,000
The Lee county board of supervisors discussed at length yesterday afternoon a resolution which provided for an appropriation of $2,000 from the motor fuel tax fund, for use in the purchase of necessary right of way. The board members sought to evade condemnation proceedings with property owners in the purchase of the necessary land and the resolution was unanimously adopted when a roll call vote was taken.

Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake told the board that the special right of way committee had reached a very acceptable agreement with Dr. Edward Ryan of Chicago, upon whose land a new well will necessarily have to be drilled and a fence built in addition to the attorney fees of Attorney Gerald Jones who represents the land owners. Superintendent Leake told the board that while he did not approve entirely of the settlements reached, he would not advise a delay over a matter of $75 in securing a $400,000 improvement.

Against Condemnation

The $75 item he referred to, he said, figured in the amount asked for land on the Flamm estate, for which a settlement of $850, plus a fence along the right of way is said to have been asked. The amount of land involved, he added, was less than three-quarters of an acre, the greater part of which during high water periods is under from four to six feet of water, and through which land runs a gully in which a cess pool is located. The special right of way committee was satisfied after inspecting the site. Leake said, and he therefore would voice no objection. State's Attorney Edward Jones agreed with Leake's statements and discouraged the entrance by the county into condemnation proceedings in securing the land releases.

The board disallowed three claims which were filed by Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, coroner, amounting to $127, $96 and $16 respectively. It was stated that the allowance of the claims was withheld pending the filing of a properly itemized statement by Attorney Robert L. Bracken who represents the coroner at this time.

His One Regret

Topeka, Kan., July 10—(AP)—Harry H. Woodring, in his first public address since leaving President Roosevelt's cabinet June 20, said the United States had all it could do to mind its own business and prepare "like hell to insulate this hemisphere from war".

The former secretary of war did not mention his letter of resignation to the president, a letter the White House said was "too personal" to make public.

He spoke last night at a Chamber of Commerce dinner welcoming him back to his native state. His address was broadcast.

Woodring asserted he was a non-interventionist "now as always".

"If the reaction from my leaving the war department as a known non-interventionist has caused modification of some policies and sobered some of those provocative and meddling advisers of the administration, who would strip our own defenses, then I regret that I had only one set of guts to sacrifice on the altar of public service".

Congressmen See Movies Secretly: Comments Varied

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Members of congress, invited secretly to a showing in the Capitol of a motion picture depicting Germany's invasion of the low countries, reacted today to what they had seen with talk of "propaganda," "warmongers" and "resentment".

Rep. Starnes (D-Ala.), a member of the Dies committee, declared the picture was "pure propaganda and I'd like to know whose".

Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.) recalled that a picture of the German invasion of Poland was displayed to members of the Norwegian parliament shortly before the invasion of Norway.

Members attended the showing, in the Capitol's house office building caucus room, on invitations bearing the name of Rep. Ross Collins (D-Miss.).

Collins was reported by his office to be en route here from his home in Mississippi. A copy of the invitation said the pictures would show "the advance of the German army into Belgium and other countries".

No Publicity Wanted

"Only senators and members of congress will be admitted", the invitation read in type more prominent than the rest of the document, bearing the letterhead "Congress of the United States, House of Representatives".

At the bottom, it read: "P. S. I urge you to give no publicity to the showing of this motion picture, R. A. C".

The letter was signed with a stamped impression of Collins' signature.

Several members, who talked with newsmen, said they had no information as to the source of the film but Starnes asserted it "obviously" was passed through the German censorship.

Rep. Lewis (R-Ohio) interpreted the film as an attempt to propagandize congress for the purpose of causing larger appropriations but said he was not yet ready to fix responsibility. He said his attitude "was one of resentment".

Reed declared "the fact that this picture was made available by one of the totalitarian governments at this particular time looks to me like there is too close a connection between the warlords and warmongers who stand to share the fruits of appropriations that result from the showing of such pictures as this".

DOG FAR FROM HOME

A pet bull dog belonging to Alfred Martin, 523 Third street, was reported missing several days ago. This morning Chief Van Bibber received word from N. A Dixon license tag which was attached to the dog's collar furnished the clue to the animal's home.

German Airplane Ambulances Prove Worth in Saving Lives of Wounded

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Nazi airplane ambulances have been employed effectively in rushing wounded soldiers back from the front, says a report by Dr. W. Tonniss, staff surgeon of the German air forces, reprinted by the Military Surgeon official journal of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

The German army medical corps is using its field hospitals only for emergency work, he wrote. The seriously wounded are put into flying ambulances for immediate transfer to back area hospitals equipped for major operations and complete care.

At least several hundred planes are believed to have been in constant use as ambulances. They carry a surgeon, nurses, and emergency equipment.

Possibilities of recovery from wounds are greatly enhanced by the aerial ambulance, the German physician said. An injured man is not jolted as he would be in a motor truck or train. He suffers less from shock. Moreover, he gets proper treatment quickly.

How many thousand injured men have been carried by air to hospitals is unknown. However, Dr. Tonniss reported that 2,500 were transported during the Polish campaign. He mentioned the case of one man who was on the operating table at the University of Breslau two hours and a half after he had been wounded at Warsaw. He recovered.

CONGRESS ASKED FOR MORE MONEY FOR ARMY, NAVY

Roosevelt Requests Almost Five Millions Additional Today

BULLETIN

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Henry L. Stimson, once a member of Republican cabinets, was sworn in today as President Roosevelt's secretary of war.

The oath was taken by the new secretary in Roosevelt's oval office at the White House. Percy Nelson, assistant comptroller of the White House, administered it.

Washington, July 10—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress to authorize an additional $4,848,171.957 for defense today in a special message asserting that "we will not use our arms in a war of aggression; we will not send our men to take part in European wars".

Roosevelt's request brought to approximately $10,000,000,000 the funds and contract authorizations asked this session for land, sea and air armaments. Previously the president had asked and the congress voted about $5,000,000,000 in the two categories.

Specifically, Roosevelt today requested $2,161,441,957 in a cash appropriation and $2,686,730,000 of contract authorizations. The latter would permit congress to appropriate later a like amount.

"The principal lesson of the war up to the present time is that partial defense is inadequate defense", Mr. Roosevelt declared.

"So great a sum means sacrifice. So large a program means hard work—the participation of the whole country in the total defense of the country. This nation through sacrifice and work and unity proposes to remain free".

"Immediate Objectives"

The president outlined the government's "immediate objectives" as follows:

"1. To carry forward the naval expansion program designed to build up the navy to meet any possible combination of hostile naval forces.

"2. To complete the total equipment for a land force of approximately 1,200,000 men, though of course this total of men would not be in the army in time of peace.

"3. To procure reserve stocks of tanks, guns, artillery, ammunition, etc., for another 800,000 men or a total of 2,000,000 if a mobilization of such a force should become necessary.

"4. To provide for manufacturing facilities, public and private, necessary to produce critical items of equipment required for a land force of 2,000,000 men, and to produce the ordnance items required for the aircraft program of the army and navy—guns, bombs, armor, bomb sights and ammunition.

"5. Procurement of 15,000 additional planes for the army and 4,000 for the navy, complete with necessary spare engines, armaments, and the most modern equipment".

Expect Knox Confirmation

Meanwhile, favorable action on the appointment of Col. Frank Knox to be secretary of the navy was taken for granted generally. Administration leaders considered all uncertainty removed when the senate voted 56 to 28 to confirm Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war.

Party lines divided in that tally yesterday, with 45 Democrats, 10 Republicans and 1 independent voting to confirm, and 14 Democrats, 12 Republicans, 1

Twelve Animals, Movie Veterans, Perish in Flames

Ventura, Calif., July 10—(AP)—Twelve circus animals, movie veterans, all—seven tigers, three elephants and the expertly-trained elephants "Sally" and "Queenie"—died in a spectacular fire last night.

The flames started in a hay barn and spread through an elephant barn, camel barn, hayshed and machine shop at Louis Goebel's lion farm at Thousand Oaks.

Sally and Queenie, driven mad by the flames, stampeded through their pens and broke the main water supply line. The blaze grew, unchecked, until the break was mended.

Sally burned to death. Queenie, badly scorched, had to be shot. Both elephants were to have been used at Paramount studio today for scenes with Dorothy Lamour in "Moon Over Burma". They were from the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

"The camels were killed when the roof caved in on them", said Goebel. "The most pitiful sight of all was the tigers running back and forth in their cages, their coats on fire. We managed to get close enough, in spite of the heat, to shoot two of them, but we didn't have a chance to put the others out of their misery".

Five lions locked in rolling cages were removed from the burning buildings. Among them was Leo, of M-G-M fame. Several hundred other lions, tigers, zebras, monkeys and other animals were in pens across a road, out of danger, but mightily upset.

Goebel estimated the loss at "around $15,000".

Alleged Western Bank Robber in Winnebago Jail

Chicago, July 10—(AP)—Four men were held in custody today—one at Rockford, Ill., and three in Los Angeles, in connection with seven bank robberies which netted $11,688 in the California city.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Robert P. Eckert, Jr. at Freeport, Brown entered a plea of not guilty. His case was continued until July 16. He was remanded to the Winnebago county jail at Rockford in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Held in Los Angeles were Tanksley T. Morris, 25, Paul White Velvin, 34, and Al Fred Shavin, 29. West coast officials said they found $1,500 three automatic pistols and maps of old and contemplated robbery sites on Velvin and Morris.

British-Italian Fight in Ionian Sea is Reported

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Nazi Germany is sitting today at Munich as judge, jury and high executioner in connection with the dangerously muddled affairs of the turbulent Balkans.

Out of this, among other things, likely will come a decision as to whether the sovereign state of Romania shall be ordered to give up a slice of her territory to Hungary.

If that happens, King Carol can't help himself. He has nothing to say about the matter. He must take orders from Berlin or go through the mill.

This is a fair representation of Nazi domination of Europe at the moment. It provides concrete backing for the statement made the other day by Robert Ley, German labor front director, that France as an aging decrepit must yield European continental hegemony to youthful, virile Germany.

There is only one power which could intervene to block a German decision regarding the Balkans—or any other European countries for that matter. That is Russia. No one else has the strength, with France smashed and Britain facing an attack against her life.

Should the bolsheviks take strong-arm action in opposition to Germany, that automatically would throw the Muscovites and the Britons into the same camp. Ipso facto we should have an Anglo-Russian partnership.

This brings me up to my main point. Whether they like it or not (and they don't like it) Russia and England are headed for cooperation. They are going to be thrown together sooner or later (probably sooner) by force of circumstances—Nazi domination. That is, this will happen unless Hitler succeeds in his threat to crush Britain.

This situation has been brought about by the destruction of the balance of power in Europe. The power is largely in the hands of one individual—Herr Hitler. He can do as he likes because there isn't sufficiently strong opposition to stop him.

The Anglo-French brotherhood used to maintain the balance of power. That influence is buried on the battlefield of Flanders. If this position is to be rectified, the balance of power must be restored.

"Balance of power" means a "just equilibrium" between nations which will prevent one of them, or a group of them, from dominating the rest. That is, if we have a strong nation (Germany for instance), or group of nations, on one side of the scales, without any corresponding weight on the other side, obviously the balance is upset.

So we set about to put on the empty side another nation or combination of nations which will even the balance up.

To illustrate: Before the World War we had the triple alliance—Germany, Austria and Italy. This strong combination was balanced by the triple entente—England, France and Russia.

This set-up prevented any general conflagration until it blew up when the fuse was lit in Sarajevo. What happened, according to many historians, was that the balance of power failed to function at the crucial time. England's attitude was uncertain at the last moment and Kaiser Wilhelm thought she wouldn't fight.

Had Germany known definitely that Britain would be against her, there might have been no war. The creation of the League of Nations—now defunct, or in a state of suspended animation—was an effort to substitute an international authority for the balance of power. The separate alliances persisted, however. We had wars and rumors of wars until finally we wound up in the present mess.

Now we are up against the restoration of the balance. Maybe it can't be restored. There are many who believe that Hitler will overrun the whole of Europe—and then some. Still, there are many

(By The Associated Press)
Great Britain, fighting for the life of her empire, celebrated claims of double victory over the Nazi-fascist powers today—at sea and in the air.

Jubilant Britons hailed Admiralty reports—disputed by Italy—that the British Mediterranean fleet sent Italian warships fleeing to the cover of shore defense guns after a brief, flaming naval battle in the Ionian sea—just below the instep of the Italian "boot".

London radio strokes declared the clash proved that "Italy's best is no match for our second best". This apparently referred to the fact that only a section of the British fleet engaged in the battle.

Another black-headed triumph was the reported feat of 50 R. A. F. fighters in beating off 100 German raiders in a spectacular air melee over the English channel this afternoon.

Eleven Nazi bombers were reported shot down as British Spitfire pursuit planes chased the German raiders back across the channel. The German high command asserted 10 British planes were shot down in the channel fight, with only four Nazi planes lost.

Prepared for Invasion
Simultaneously, it was announced that the invasion-minded British public has been "prepared" to deal with German parachute or transport-plane troops attempting to storm the island kingdom disguised in British uniforms.

The Nazi high command, coincidentally, claimed the destruction of 28 British planes which attacked a Nazi base at Stavanger, Norway, and seven British bombers in another raid on Amiens, France.

While the British version said the Italian warships fled "almost immediately" behind a smoke-screen, after an Italian battleship had suffered a long-range hit, an Italian communique asserted the British fleet was driven off.

The British Admiralty, taking note of "mendacious reports often circulated by the enemy", quickly retorted that the clash had "developed into a chase of the Italian ships" and that there were no British casualties.

"It must be assumed that the Italian naval forces, at least one heavy unit of which suffered damage, have gained the shelter of their shore defenses", the Admiralty added.

Italy bluntly disputed London claims of a British victory in the Mediterranean naval battle.

The Italian communique, which admitted casualties of 29 killed and 69 wounded, insisted the Italian naval forces sought out the British men o'war "to head off" an apparent British plan to attack Italian coastal positions, and succeeded in contacting the enemy.

Italians Lose Destroyer
The Italians said one British warship—"probably a battleship"—was sunk while "only one of our warships was hit." They admitted, however, the sinking of the Italian destroyer "Zeffireo" and loss of one submarine.

Then, the communique declared, after brief, intensive firing, "the enemy gave up its objective and moved off toward the southeast." Italy's claim of seeking the initiative in the sea battle differed markedly from the British account.

GIRLS ATTEND 4-H CAMP

Camp life at Blackhawk has gone for another year. All in all the fourteen Lee County 4-H girls who attended said it was a wonderful camp. Cooperation is essential for a good camp. This was true throughout the entire camp in work and play when 144 girls from 11 counties met at Camp Rotary near Rockford for a three-day camping period from July 4 to 7.

As the little woodpecker who gets up bright and early, the girls arose to get their cabins cleaned for inspection. They swept, dusted, made bunks, hung up clothes and straightened their suitcases. Because every cabin was so orderly, black sock was never awarded.

Where's the varnish? Could you help me with the raffia? Is that the bugle so soon? These questions came from the handicraft section where the girls made hanging wavy baskets, woven bracelets and metal tapped plaques.

"It's easy to be spectacular, but hard to be substantial," said Mrs. Elsie Ross Butler who led the discussion on "Being Your Best Self." Being at one's best entails behavior, personal appearance and health, the group decided. Kindness, courtesy, tact, diversified interests, honesty and sincerity were the traits decided to be the most desirable in friends.

"Off with the shoes say 'Ah', let's hear a great big cough. That's fine! First degree flat feet!" Such were the comments given by the camp doctor when the campers were given the "once over" when they entered camp. Health report cards were made out at this time of examination and it is hoped that suggested improvements can be made before next year.

Ethel Atkinson, Vivian Wolfman, Harriet Mihm and Frances Richardson of Lee county were among the winners of the water carnival.

Girls from Lee county who helped to make the camp a success were Lydia Heath who helped with the singing and was a cabin leader; Vivian Wolfman who was a swimming instructor and a cabin leader; Ethel Atkinson who was a swimming instructor and a cabin leader; Kathryn Herrmann who helped with music and was a bugler; Harriet Mihm, Frances Richardson, Betty Hill, Isabelle Schmidt, Roberta Hoelscher, Neva Jean Moeller, Daisy Salzman, Mary Frances Eisenrich and Louis Johnson.

Variety was the keynote of the evening entertainment. The baggy trousers and pin tucked hat of Uncle Sam, the "soap box" tap dancing of the campers, and the impressive candlelighting ceremony of Saturday night, were all part of the series of grand experiences of the campers.

Scene In White Pines State Park

Tree-enclosed valley at White Pines Forest State Park, the southernmost stand of virgin white pine in the middle west.

Driving over the curving road that goes up hill and down dale over the hilly country lying just west of the Rock River, the motorist passes through scenes of pastoral beauty until suddenly, as he tops the crest of one of the higher hills, the scene changes as a forest of stately white pines appears in view, giving notice that the entrance to White Pines Forest Park is just ahead.

In this 315 acre tract set aside for the public's enjoyment, is preserved the southernmost stand of virgin white pine in the entire middle west. Recreational facilities are provided, as are picnic grounds with tables, fireplaces, and shelters, a rustic lodge, and overnight cabins. Footpaths and bridge paths lead to the innermost portions of the park, to enchanting scenes of natural beauty.

The terrain is hilly, with bluffs rising sheer from the edge of Pine Creek which meanders through the park. It was these bluffs which spared the pines from the woodsman's axe, since logging operations were rendered difficult by the height from which the cut logs would have had to be lowered.

The motor road crosses and recrosses Pine Creek by means of easily negotiated concrete fords, and parking spaces are provided at frequent intervals along the road. The trails skirt the edges of the bluff, and lead under the canopy of leaves back into the forest

Jap Newspaper Prints Tirade Against Uncle Sam's Marine Forces

Shanghai, July 10.—(AP)—A violent tirade against United States marines was spread Tuesday across the front page of the newspaper Taihoku Shimpō, generally regarded as the mouthpiece of the Japanese army in China, as the aftermath of an International Settlement incident.

Japanese authorities demanded an apology for "mistreatment" of Japanese plainclothes gendarmes arrested by marines in the settlement July 7.

The Taihoku Shimpō declared the marines were "gentlemen with human faces, but with the skins of animals".

Indignant patriots, it added, had posted handbills with such slogans as "Down with America" and "Remove the American hindrance to development of East Asia".

Meanwhile Major General Saburo Miura, commander of Japanese gendarmes here, demanding an apology for the July 7 affair, warned that "a speedy settlement of the incident is necessary or the matter is likely to take a grave turn".

Anti-British feeling also increased. Posters appeared demanding withdrawal of British troops from Shanghai.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then you bloat up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 10c and 25c.

Advertising works two ways.

It pays the advertiser to "run" advertisements -- and it pays YOU to read them!

Why? Because that's the ONLY way you can keep abreast of new trends and developments in the merchandise you're interested in. Because you can SAVE time, effort and money by learning, through the advertisements, where to find the best buys and the outstanding values.

"Hit-or-miss shopping" is as old-fashioned as the tandem bicycle. The MODERN shopper reads the advertisements every day!

THE LIBRARY'S BILL OF RIGHTS

Today indications in many parts of the world point to growing intolerance, suppression of free speech, and censorship, affecting the rights of minorities and individuals. Mindful of this, the Council of American Library Association publicly affirms its belief in the following basic policies which should govern the services of free public libraries:

1. Books and other reading matter selected for purchase from the public fund should be chosen because of value and interest to people of the community, and in no case should the selection be influenced by the race or nationality or the political or religious views of the writers.

2. As far as available material permits, all sides of questions on which differences of opinion exist should be represented fairly and adequately in the books and other reading matter purchased for public use.

3. The library as an institution to educate for democratic living should especially welcome the use of its meeting rooms for socially useful and cultural activities and the discussion of current questions. Library meeting rooms should be available on equal terms to all groups in the community regardless of their beliefs and affiliations.

According to a survey, 10,000,000 of the motor vehicles of the United States daily pull into the 400,000 retail gasoline stations and purchase 60,000,000 gallons of motor fuel every 24 hours, on the average.

There is a total of 45,422,411 motor vehicles registered in the entire world. Of this number, 68.5 per cent or 31,104,118 vehicles are registered in the United States.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues
of the favorite are liable to become suspected and
accused, while the tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender
their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Military Victory Is Not the End

Stumbling down her Gogoltha, France treads
the path of humiliation and defeat.
Hitler is master of the European continent from Russia to the Atlantic. While he does not directly control all of it, there is no one who can oppose
his will.

Quite aside from his task of beating Britain,
by no means yet accomplished, this man now bears
a crushing weight upon his shoulders.

Five years ago, to a Reichstag assembled to hear him launch the German arms program whose
fruits now ripen, Hitler spoke these words:

"Our racial theory therefore regards every
war for the subjugation and domination of an alien people as a proceeding which sooner or
later changes and weakens the victor internally,
and eventually brings about his defeat. . . .

"In no future war will the European national states be able to achieve—apart from the temporary weakening of their opponents—more than petty adjustment of national frontiers, of
no consequence in comparison with the sacrifices made. . . . no war would be likely essentially to alter the distress in Europe. It would probably increase it. . . ."

Useless now to discuss the relationship between these terrible words and what followed. The question is, was Hitler right on May 21, 1935, or is he right in June, 1940?

Was his statement then a mere effort (successful) to belaud the issue before confused European diplomats? Or was it a moment of clear-sighted vision obscured later by the rush and pressure of
events which seized control of the men who launched
them?

We cannot know.
We know that Hitler has met and beaten Generals Gamelin, Weygand, and Petain. Perhaps he has yet to meet General Want, General Hunger,

Peace, stood in the station,
watching an intent young Indian
hammer out a silver bracelet.

"Here, honey." Mrs. King
handed Peace a string of blue
beads. "That's from me, and the cactus candy is from Mr. Ogden.
Isn't he kind?" She grabbed the little man by the arm, and said
over her shoulder: "We've seen
enough of this. Come on, Caleb.
Let's go back and play honeymoon bridge."

Carole had also bought a gift
for Peace, a small Indian doll.
"Caleb! Did you hear that?" she asked Denny and Rhoda. "Fast
worker!"

"He isn't the only one," Rhoda
said.

Carole turned away, perplexed.
She might have been astonished
had she heard Rhoda explaining
shortly before about the telegram.
Bertrand had wired he wanted
Rhoda to wait, too. "What about marrying me and keeping the fortune in the family? Please reconsider, Bertrand." And Denny had been sweet when she told him,
although he had not been as angry
as she expected him to be.

Denny caught up with Carole.
"Wait. Peace hasn't thanked you for the papoose. Tell me, has that old geezer been trying to sell you
an oil well?"

"No. We Hollywood people are wise. Get baskets full of flimflam.
But frankly I'm worried about Mrs. King. She's practically abandoned me. And as if I ought to protect her. She's so glib.
And careless! Now she's lost her husband's last gift—an expensive,
gold cigarette case."

BACK in the car, Peace sat
feeding the cactus candy alternately to her Indian doll and Darby and Joan, finishing the pieces herself.

The wheels sang a lullaby. He could see Carole's face, with its honeyed curls and sea green eyes.
He dozed.

Denny came to with a terrific jolt. He felt that a giant had wrenched every bone in his body.
Staccato cries followed the silence. The train had stopped.
Was it a wreck?

"Rhoda! Peace!" he called, then shouted again, his voice rising above the others. Neither was in the seat where they'd been. . . .
was it a minute before?"

"Pipe down!" yelled a man.
"Nobody's hurt. Either bumped into something or run off the track. Our car's okay."

"Peace! Rhoda!" Denny pushed
through the struggling line of passengers heading for the door, all
trying to escape before the car
caught fire or something. Caleb Ogden passed him, looting him
with a suitcase. He did not speak,
but Denny heard Peace shrill
above the clamor:

"Wait, Mr. Hogden, Joan's
lost!"

In a bound Denny reached the vestibule of the forward car and
had the child in his arms. "You
all right, honey?"

She struggled to get away.
"You'll step on poor Joan. I can't find Joan!" He carried her out,
willy-nilly, to the safety of the sand.

"It wasn't a wreck!" "The train's on the track!" "What was
it stopped for?" "Who stopped
it?" The questions increased in the crowd outside.

Denny could see Rhoda's heather suit up ahead. And beyond her, Mrs. King, frantically waving
and calling to a man with a bag.
Ogden?

"But you'll get lost, Caleb!"
screamed Mrs. King, as Denny
came abreast. "Oh, stop him,
somebody! You, Mr. Dennis. He'll
die out there in the desert."

Running a little way forward,
Denny cupped his hands: "Ogden!
Come back!" But the flying figure
did not halt.

"He said no more trains for him.
This is his second wreck, poor
man. Oh, dear," wailed Mrs.
King. "I haven't got his address!"

"He's all right. See. . . isn't that a car? Sure it is!" Denny
comforted. "But have you seen Miss Love? I haven't." He put Peace's hand in hers. "Hang onto
her while I find Carole."

WEeping, Mrs. King started back towards the crowd of
passengers who were being dispatched back onto the train.

"Somebody pulled the emergency. The conductor's furious," a passenger volunteered.

"Whoever did it was crazy. Me!
I took a header in the aisle,"
wheezed a fat man.

"Me lost Joan!" howled Peace.
"Johnny who?" demanded the
conductor. "Your boy, madam?"

Mrs. King let go Peace's hand
and grasped her beads nervously.
"It's all right, conductor. Just a turdle. But that man running down the track—see? Near that automobile—he was on the train."

"But he pulled the brake. But
why—out here in the desert?
Ab-board everybody! 'Know
who he was?'"

"Ogden—Caleb Ogden from Texas, he told us. Got on at Chicago, I think. An oil man. En route to Los Angeles."

"Funny business. All ab-board!
Step lively, please."

Rhoda and Carole both came up
to where Denny was standing.
"Where's the infant?" Rhoda demanded, stepping aboard. Carole followed.

"She with Mrs. King. On the train. Just a second, conductor.
Have to make sure."

The conductor signalled a brakeman, who disappeared. "You get on. He'll look."

Rhoda reappeared. "Okay," she called. "I can see Mrs. King."

The brakeman signalled, and
the conductor hustled Denny up
the steps.

"Better get a leasn for the kid."
Denny tried to grin it off, but received only a frozen stare in return.

He hurried to Mrs. King and
saw that she was quite alone,
weeping. "Where's Peace?"

"I thought she was with you.
She let go my hand. Miss Love
went to the observation platform to see if she got left behind, and now
Miss Lovell's gone too. Anyway,
Caleb will find her, in case. . . ."

DENNY waited to hear no more,
but tore through car after car
until he came to the observation.
A crowd was massed on the tiny platform outside. He could see Rhoda's small, dark head.

"She jumped. I saw her!" cried
someone.

"Who jumped?" Peace would be killed! He must keep his wits
about him.

"The movie star—Carole Love!
Just like a thriller. See—the little girl? They're waving."

Denny could see two tiny dots,
diminishing like Alice in Wonderland, as the limited gathered
speed. "Where's the watcha-call it
to stop the train? Do something,
somebody!"

"Nobody's going to stop this
train again," thundered the irate
conductor coming up behind them.
"Late now! We'll telegraph from the next stop."

BEHIND
THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, July 9.—While General Farley is handling the surface
arrangements for the straw convention in Chicago, the real negotiations are being managed by Harry Hopkins, the secretary of commerce.

Hopkins is Roosevelt's inside
man. He has succeeded in a way to the 1932 job of the late Louis Howe, except that Hopkins' personal and official relationship with the new Roosevelt that is growing up out of the changed war
situation, gives him a far greater status. In fact the commerce
secretary has during the past few weeks become the alter ego of the president, operating not only in political directions but in guiding
the entire new national defense
setup.

There are some nearby the White House who expect that the expansion of Hopkins' activities
will lead him to no less a position
than chairman of the national committee to succeed Farley, or personal director of the third term
campaign in case Roosevelt goes after it. In conjunction with his new duties, Hopkins went to Chicago quietly last week. As this column went to press, it had not yet been decided whether he would function next week on the convention spot or from Hyde Park, but
the word was reaching all the party
leaders out in the country that he was the man to see.

This is a new role for the former
director of the Work Projects Administration, and some of the politicians have considered the president's choice a surprise, although
not those who are closest to FDR.
While Hopkins has had no previous official political experience he knows all the local party leaders
by their first names and likewise
fully knows and favors the change
that has taken place in the direction of the government, since the serious aspect of the war developed in Europe. In this he is distinct from his old reform colleagues at the extreme left of the new deal, who neither favor nor approve the recent turn. I mean Thomas Corcoran who has been authoritatively reported as upset
by the relaxation of reform pressure.

A minor disturbance in the New York delegation has caused some
annoyance among the party directors. Friends of New York's Governor, a. L. W. Roosevelt, apparently thought their vote should be cast
for him on the first ballot. Two
New York City leaders shared their view. Lehman has been an outstanding Democratic four-term
governor, and according to their
way of thinking, rated a com-piment. Farley has been working on it.

Campaigning for the vice presidential nomination has been
sharp and personal, although not
in public. Friends of Speaker Bankhead have been particularly active. So have the associates of Indiana's Paul McNutt. They all have been assuming Roosevelt
would run, and the new deal in congress and half of the conservative Democrats seem to have shared that view recently, and as
he will not be able to campaign
extensively, they have been using
the effective argument that
should get a running mate who could keep up with Willkie.

Those close to State Secretary
Hull have not been exceptionally active, considering the choice of their man would be directed by
the highest authority, perhaps for first place, if any.

Hopkins has provided such general cooperation for the big business leaders who have been working in the new national defense
regime, that some of them seem to be a bit bewildered. As one
has privately said:

"Since I came into the government I've been a twenty-two window. When passing the ninth floor on the way down, he was asked by a voice from a window
how he was getting along. His reply was: 'Doing all right so far.'"

ZULEMMA BYRD PETTINGER
(Contributed)
Scarboro.—Zulemma Byrd Pet-
tinger was born Nov. 26, 1877
near Scarboro, Ill., and passed to her reward July 2, 1940 at the age of 62 years, seven months
and six days. She was united in holy matrimony to Lewis Pettin-
ger, March 8, 1900 to which union
ten children were born: Warren
of West Brooklyn, Lyle of Hinkley; Violet Miller of Shab-bona; Margaret Otterbach of Compton; Edna Irwin of Compton;
Ansel at home; Thelma Hicks
of Plainfield; Hazel of Rochelle; Rosalee Kiley of Sandwich and Florence at home.

On Dec. 20, 1936 Mrs. Pettinger
broke her hip which resulted in
her spending five and one-half
months in the Waterman hospital
in a cast. Because the limb was not completely and properly healed she was required to use a crutch. Early in October another fall in her home caused her to spend three months in the Dixon
and Amboy hospitals from which
she returned home for Christmas
with the hope of soon being able to walk without her crutch. Jan.
16 she was required to submit to
an operation for a ruptured gall bladder which was followed by peritonitis. She was able to return to her home for Mother's
day. On June 27 another operation for the removal of gall stones
was performed at the Amboy hospital. The end came suddenly on the night of July 2nd.

She was a member of the Ladies' Aid of the Scarboro church
and devoted to its interests, and
was happy to be able to be at the church for the last month's regular meeting. Seated in the car
she happily visited all who came to her side that day. Besides her husband and children, Mrs. Pet-
tinger is survived by three brothers,
Willard Byrd of Scarboro; Clifford of Rockford and Cass of Los Angeles, Cal., and two sisters,
Mrs. Ruth Apple of Compton
and Mrs. Tizah Bauserman of Woodstock, Va. One brother,
Lewis, and two sisters, Ethel and Nannie Aydelotte, predeceased
her. There are eight grandchildren: Bobby and Jean Hicks;
Warren, Lorraine and Joyce Miller; Dorothy Ann Otterbach, and Arlene and Wilbur Pettinger.

Illinois Crops Badly
in Need of Moisture

Springfield, Ill. July 10.—(AP)—
The weather bureau's weekly
crop bulletin said today that "lack
of rain is being felt or more is needed throughout practically all of Illinois."

"Lack of moisture, the bulletin added, "is beginning to affect corn and soybeans, and a little curling of leaves was reported in places."

"Corn has generally made good
to excellent progress in the north, and fair to good in the south. x x Harvest of winter
wheat is well advanced over most of the south; x x Returns thus far are mostly good."

"Oats are preponderantly good,
in places the best in years. A small amount of soybeans are not yet up x x x however, the crop
is mostly good."

In Los Angeles, Calif., it is reported that there is one car for every 2.8 persons, the most heavily motorized area in the world.

According to a recent survey,
there are about 900,000 persons in the United States now living in trailers or mobile contraptions.

About half of the cities in the United States having parking meters have less than 30,000 population.

POLITICS
AP Reports Gossip
Among Politicians
in Washington

By JACK BELL
Washington, July 10.—(AP)—
Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), removed himself today from the list
of presidential aspirants who expect their names to go before the Democratic national convention
regardless of President Roosevelt's plans.

Asserting he would not be a party to a "stop-Roosevelt"
movement, Wheeler told reporters
that continued silence by the President would have the effect of quashing all other candidates.
"Of course, Mr. Roosevelt can have the nomination—he has the
votes to get it on the first ballot
if he wants it, and there is no
question about that," Wheeler declared.

Virtually every politician here
believes the President will accept
a "draft" nomination, but Roosevelt himself again parried questions on the subject at his press
conference yesterday.

He would not say when he would disclose his intentions. Asked whether he might go to Chicago during the convention, next week, he recalled a previous announcement that he would cruise
on the Potomac next week-end
and had no plans thereafter.

Wheeler's position appeared to leave the Progressives, Golden Rule
the only other aspirant whose friends
insisted that his name would be placed in nomination.
There was considerable doubt as to the stand likely to be taken by Postmaster General E. A. Tamm,
since members of the Massachusetts delegation nominally pledged
to him have publicly advocated
that the president run for a third term.

While the Democratic situation
remained uncertain, Republicans
were quickly ahead with their plans, scheduling a meeting tomorrow of the campaign advisory group picked by Wendell L. Willkie
before he left yesterday for a Colorado vacation.

Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, one of Willkie's chief advisors, was expected to arrive late
today for conferences with the group, which also included Russel
Davenport, former managing editor of Fortune Magazine, and Oren Root, Jr., New York lawyer,
who were among the original Willkie boosters.

Rep. Joseph Martin (R-Mass.),
new National Republican chairman, said he expected to confer
with Stassen and other members
of the group tonight.

NEW DEAL "NERVOUS"?
Colorado Springs, Colo., July 10
(AP).—Wendell L. Willkie said
today a projected senate committee investigation of his campaign
for the Republican presidential nomination was evidence that
"the new deal must indeed be
vouching out the outcome of the
election."

Willkie arrived here last night
for a three-week vacation. He declared he would "just loaf" during the first week, would see a number of Republican leaders in second week and would devote the third to preparation of his formal
address accepting the nomination.
The New York nominee was informed during his plane trip west
that Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa)
of the senate campaign investigating committee wanted to inquire into "the alleged high pressure telegraphic campaign in behalf of Wendell Willkie."

Willkie, former managing reporter
in Washington, said he had received numerous complaints that
delegates to the Republican national convention were deluged
with telegrams urging support of Willkie. Gillette added that he knew of no law to prevent that type of campaign.

Willkie said in response to
questions that there had been no
"telegraphic campaign" and added:
"Gillette is a Democrat and is trying to help the Democrats win.
As far as I am concerned they can investigate us forever. We do not want to conduct a campaign on
such trivialities."

"A party which has to resort to such tactics as the new deal is presently doing must indeed be nervous about the outcome of the
election."

A large crowd, chanting "We want Willkie," lined the fences at
the municipal airport when the nominee and his wife arrived last night. Gov. Ralph L. Carr, who flew from Denver to welcome his guests, told the crowd that Willkie "wanted to know if this was a paid gallery."

"This," Carr added, "is the voice
of Colorado," and the crowd
agreed with a lusty "yes."

Willkie told reporters he would make a number of "set speeches"
during his campaign and would interperse them with informal
talks—mostly from the rear platform of a campaign train.

WORK STARTED ON LIGHTED FIELD

Work was scheduled to begin today on the erection of the poles for the lighted field at the Dixon high school. Last night Paul Potts and his committee met to outline a ticket-selling campaign which opens next Tuesday. Each member of the five-man committee has been given 100 tickets and these, in turn, will be distributed to sub-committees. The tickets, a pledge of the lighted field, will sell for $1.50 and will admit the holder to four home games starting with the dedication game on the night of Sept. 13 with Mt. Morris.

GAMES HERE TONIGHT

In the games tonight at the Airport the Three Deuces and Freeman meet in the first tilt and the Moose Lodge and the United Cigar in the afterpiece.

GO FISHING ALWAYS GOOD

By Robert Page Lincoln

During the July days fishing for bass, which then is at its best, resolves itself into three phases: fishing in the inshore waters in the very early morning; fishing in deep water during the middle of the day and fishing in the late afternoon and evening and into the night for that matter.

The reason for early morning fishing is obvious, in that with the inshore waters sizzling in the heat of the day, the bass feed early and then move out into the deep waters where they spend most of the daylight hours, coming in toward shore in the afternoon. From six o'clock in the evening until twelve midnight, the bass does most of its seeking of food.

By feeding in the inshore waters in the morning, everything is cool and agreeable. One should be out at about the time of daybreak. From then on until five o'clock in the morning the fishing is at its best. Most fishermen miss the fishing in the morning simply because they arrive at the lake around seven or eight o'clock, just about the time the bass are on their way into deep water.

Go Deep During Day

If you would take bass during the heat of a July day, that is, from nine o'clock to four o'clock in the afternoon, you must go deep. In deep fishing, it will be found that comparatively few artificial lures can be used, at least with anything approaching a desirable degree of success. Live lures, fished either by means of a bait

WEST'S HOME RUN STARTS NATS ON WAY TO VICTORY

McKechnie's Hunch Gave Boston Player Place In Starting Lineup

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

St. Louis, July 10—(AP)—At noon it was a hunch—nothing more—that caused Manager Bill McKechnie to insert Max West of Boston in the starting lineup of the National league in the annual major league all-star baseball game.

Thirteen minutes after the contest was under way, it was a brilliant piece of strategy as West deposited a three-run homer in the right field bleachers and started his mates toward a 4 to 0 triumph over the American League.

McKechnie's belief that Mel Ott of the New York Giants, listed to start in right field until shortly before game time yesterday, would be of more value in the late innings when that garden would be the sun field prompted the decision to make the change.

West's knockout punch before a man was out in the first combined with an assortment of all star pitching produced the third National League victory and the first shutout of the competition.

Used Five Pitchers

Five hurlers the Nationals summoned to the mound—Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters of the Reds, Whit Wyatt of Brooklyn, Larry French of the Cubs and Carl Hubbell of the Giants—doled out but three hits.

Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox, collected a double and a single and Buck Newsom, the hellcane Detroit flinger, cracked a one-baser. Never did the losers have more than one runner on the paths and Appling was the only one to get beyond second.

It was the White Sox shortstop's double off Derringer in the second that brought about West's removal. The Boston clouter tried to make a leaping catch and slammed into the concrete retaining wall. He suffered a bruised hip but is expected to play again Thursday when action is resumed in the big leagues after a three-day layoff.

But West wasn't the only luminary in the contest which probably was as thrilling as any yet played, although the winners dominated all the way.

Billy Herman, the Cub second baseman, laced out three hits—equal of the entire opposition output—and late in the fracas a double play by Eddie Miller of Boston, Pete Coscarart of Brooklyn and Frank McCormick of Cincinnati nipped a threat.

"Seconds" Score Fourth Run And after McKechnie pulled his first team the "seconds" scored the fourth run off Cleveland's great Bob Feller in the eighth but they needed an error by Catcher Rollie Hemaley to chase the tally across.

Aside from Appling's robust clouting the losers' chief contribution to the entertainment of the 32,373 fans was the fielding of Joe Gordon, Yank middle sacker.

Although his players grabbed the spotlight, the contest did nothing to dim the luster of McKechnie.

His choice of West, who climaxed the first assault on Charley Ruffing, was an admitted "lucky hunch," but he catered to the St. Louis crowd by playing their own Terry Moore in center field the full nine innings although he used 22 of the 25 players allowed him.

Only Manager-Shortstop Leo Durocher of Brooklyn and Pitchers Hugh Mulcahy and Kirby Higbe of the Phillies, were inactive. It was the deacon's second victory of the year over an American all-star crew. He won a 2 to 1 verdict in a Florida spring training contest.

MORE THAN 50,000 YOUNG PHEASANTS TO BE FREED IN ILLINOIS THIS YEAR

Springfield, Ill., July 10—(AP)—More than 50,000 young pheasants will be liberated throughout the state this year as part of the state conservation department's wild life propagation program. Director Thomas J. Lynch announced today.

Production of pheasants by the state this year is almost double that of 1939, Lynch said. In addition to the 50,000 chicks to be liberated by members of the sportsmen's organizations receiving them, Lynch said another 45,000 pheasants would be raised to maturity on the state game farms and liberated next fall and spring.

Chicago, July 10—(AP)—Hawaii's amateur boxing champions step into the ring at Soldier Field tonight hoping to hand Chicago's Catholic Youth organization its first team defeat in 25 inter-city and international matches.

Hawaii presents one of the best balanced squads ever to appear here, the same that won the team title at the National A. A. U. ring tournament a year ago.

The program, expected to draw 30,000 spectators to the massive lakefront stadium, calls for 11 bouts between the Hawaiians and C. Y. O., in addition to six preliminaries. Jack Dempsey will referee the heavyweight bout.

ART DOERING SETS CAP FOR NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP THIS SUMMER

Minneapolis, July 10—(AP)—

Art Doering of Chicago has a big ambition for his golf this summer—the national amateur golf championship—and his activity in the 41st annual Western amateur tournament in progress at the Minneapolis golf club is a step in that direction.

The 24-year-old Chicago youth started the final 18 holes of qualifying play in the western event today with a one stroke lead over the field, by reason of a masterful two under par 70 yesterday.

A national ranking amateur for several years, Doering only recently won his first major tournament when he copped the Trans-Mississippi event earlier this summer.

A stroke back of Doering were Jim Black of St. Louis, Neil Cronquist and Ken Young of Minneapolis. Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., the defending champion; Walter Burkemo of Evanston, Ill., and Earl Larson of Minneapolis, all had 72's.

Bud Ward of Spokane, the national amateur titlist had a bad time of it during the first 18 holes and had to be satisfied with one of his poorest rounds in years, a 77.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

One of the most enjoyable and interesting meetings of the local W. C. T. U. was that of last Friday evening, July 5, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Wolf. As dusk settled down after an extremely warm day, W. C. T. U. members and guests gathered in the spacious and hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Wolf till the living rooms were comfortably filled. With the president, Mrs. S. L. Cover in the chair, the meeting opened with singing, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Devotions were conducted by the devotional director, Mrs. C. W. Lahman, who read the scripture, Mrs. Charles Holley read a beautiful poem, "The Touch of the Master's Hand," and Rev. D. C. Snider led in prayer.

A short business session followed, as this was the regular W. C. T. U. meeting for the month of July. It was voted unanimously to accept the recommendation of the executive board and send our president as delegate to the national W. C. T. U. convention which will be held at the Stevens hotel in Chicago August 9-14.

Mrs. Cover then conducted the welcome service for the new members who had joined the Union during the present year. They are: Mrs. Elsie Willard and Mrs. Lulu Trostle as active members, and S. L. Cover, Henry Hicks, C. A. Blocher and J. E. Wolf as honorary members. She also explained something of the privileges and duties accompanying membership in the W. C. T. U., which is an organization of Christian women banded together for the protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic, and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law. Men of the community who are interested in these aims, willing to sign the pledge and pay the same dues—$1.00 per year—are welcome as honorary members. The full amount of their dues is retained at home for work in the local community, but they do not vote in deliberations of the Union.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Blocher. The first topic on the program was to have been "A Survey of Local Conditions," but the speaker who was assigned this topic was unable to be present, so the meeting was thrown open for a general discussion. There were several things mentioned which all felt were of help to the community; and yet there were others pointed out which all agreed were not of that type. The general opinion seemed to be that all citizens of a community should be interested in the highest welfare of all its people, particularly its boys and girls.

The Reverend Cover gave a most inspiring talk on the subject of Christian Citizenship, pointing out the fact that these United States of America were founded as a Christian nation, established as a haven for freedom of worship and belief. The founders established homes, churches, and schools, together with the open Bible as a foundation for freedom, and today as never before, we are realizing as Americans, that ours is a heritage of untold worth. We should be strong in our convictions, with a willingness to work for all and pray for all, that our beloved country may continue to stand for protection of homes, intellectual and religious freedom.

Miss Letha Snider read a beautiful "Tribute to Fathers" and Mrs. Etha Neher sang a solo, "Love is Needed Here Below" which was much enjoyed. Rev. Ralph M. Dreger spoke on the subject "The Price of Something for Nothing", presenting some very pertinent facts concerning the history, the causes, and the effects of the prevalent desire everywhere to "get something for nothing". He discussed the many schemes that are being fostered to meet this prevailing and growing spirit, pointing out that they are not a part of healthy trade, but simply schemes to bring in profits for the promoters without giving something in return of equal value. His presentation of the subject was most instructive and thought-inspiring and brought out a spirited and interesting discussion.

The program then closed with the singing of "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me" after which the meeting adjourned and was followed by a pleasant social period, with delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and iced tea served by the hostess and the social committee. The members of the group went their different ways, many expressing the wish that such gatherings might be more frequent.

Col. and Mrs. John Gentry and their children which included the families of Kenneth Gentry, Russell Gentry, Earl Eller and Gilbert Conibear attended the funeral of Franklin F. Gentry in Amboy Sunday afternoon. The grandsons served as pall bearers.

Mrs. Vernon Pomeroy won the prize in the hog calling contest at the Dixon Fourth of July celebration. Mrs. Pomeroy has also won several prizes in husband calling contests and her voice seems to have "what it takes" in calling contests.

John Gale, a former resident here, and repair supervisor of the Des Moines Joint Stock Land Bank of Des Moines, Ia. visited at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alvin Behrendt at Harmon last week and called on friends here Monday.

He was also going to Chippewa Falls, Wis., to see his mother, Mrs. Theodore Gale who lives there with her son Shelby. At Liscumb, Ia. he occasionally see George Moray, his sons, Ernest and Eddie and daughter Hazel, who lived here several decades ago. Mr. Gale was accompanied by his wife on the trip. They have a family of six girls and two boys, several of whom are married.

The Rev. G. A. Cox will take "How to be Happy" for his sermon theme next Sunday morning at 11 A. M. Sunday school 10 A. M. Special music at the church service.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pomeroy and son Dickie of Lockport accompanied the Joliet school band, in which Dickie plays trombone, to the New York World's Fair, Niagara Falls and Washington, D. C. last week.

Rosa and Elsie Mortenson of Chicago and Harold Donnelly spent the Fourth here. Harold, who is employed in dairy research work for the Illinois university, has been transferred to Kane county, which includes the many dairy farms around Geneva, Elgin, Batavia and others.

Mr. Harold Mann of Chicago who spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pomeroy last week, returned home Saturday.

Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Gilboe and three little sons, David, Daniel and Gregory of Holdingford, Minn., were guests at the Earl McNinch and O. S. Baylor homes the fore part of last week.

A scramble dinner in their honor at the Baylor home Tuesday was attended by many of their local friends. Prof. Gilboe is the Ag teacher in the Holdingford high school. Enroute home they visited relatives in Wisconsin.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers for Sunday dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers, Jr. of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Meyers of Elgin; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Heinzerth of West Brooklyn. Visitors at the home in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Haefer, son Melvin of West Brooklyn and Mrs. Henry Haefer of Ashton.

Katherine Klausen spent the Fourth and Friday with her grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. George Perry in Amboy.

The Ladies Circle will meet Thursday of this week with Mrs. O. S. Baylor, assisting hostesses will be Mrs. A. P. Case, Mrs. Leonard White, Mrs. Grant Fuller, Mrs. G. A. Cox, Mrs. Ned Redditt. Roll call will be answered with a joke. Mrs. Vernon Schnell will lead devotions and a patriotic program will be featured.

Jeffrey Nattress, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nattress, who has been ill for several months with acrodynia is now definitely improving and will doubtless soon regain his former good health.

Mrs. Katherine Taylor's condition continues about the same. Her many friends hope she will soon show a decided change for the better.

The I. O. O. F. lodge elected the following officers at their last meeting:

Noble Grand—Fred Meyer
Vice Grand—George King
Rec.-Fin. Secretary—B. F. Chesley

Treasurer—George Perry
Roy Schnell, who was run over by a truck while mowing weeds on U. S. route 30 and quite seriously injured, returned home from the Amboy hospital Wednesday and is making a good recovery. Among the fifty neighbors who worked with tractors and hoes on his farm Monday of last week were also Mr. Novak and son who operated a tractor and whose names were omitted in the account appearing in the local newspapers last week.
